Satsop Development Park COLOCATION FACILITY

Satsop Development Park is a business park built on the site of an unfinished nuclear power plant complex in Grays Harbor County, Washington.

In addition to its Colocation Facility (see right), this building also houses the Satsop Development Park Network Operation Center. TechTell provides outsourced network management. This includes continuous (24x7x365) monitoring, provision, trouble resolution and change management.

Network Operation Center services are ideal for:

- Colocation Facilities
- Public Utilities
- Counties
- Cities
- Port Authorities
- Private Business of All Sizes
- Public Safety
- Banks
- Medical Groups
- Education
- Web Hosters

For more information, contact TechTell at 360.482.7950 or by e-mail at noc@techtell.com

Our colocation is a secure facility where groups can place computer equipment that needs access to the Internet and other carriers. The Satsop Development Park Colocation Facility features:

- 4,000 square foot earthquake-hardened facility
- 40 cabinets
- Back-up generator
- Three physically diverse fiber routes to the Internet
- 24x7x365 Network Operation Center
- Continuous network monitoring
- Rural, highly secure location
- Rates substantially lower than urban areas
- Off-site back-ups

Satsop Development Park contracts with TechTell to manage and operate the colocation facility in respect to data customers.
